Other Information

Acceptance and receipt of the Solomon Jackson, Jr. Scholarship Foundation does not relieve the recipient of the personal responsibility of applying for admission to the college or university, nor does it guarantee his or her admission. After a student is enrolled in a college or university, his or her academic program, social and personal behavior and involvement in campus affairs are subject only to the policies of the college. The Solomon Jackson, Jr. Scholarship does not require particular courses in the recipient's academic program, involvement in extracurricular activities or personal behavior inconsistent with college policies, except as stated above.

Recipients may attend the college or university of their choice within the United States. Pursuing a course of study in which the college or university offers an alternate year of study outside the United States will not jeopardize the scholarship.

Applicants who are lineal descendants (children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren) of the Solomon Jackson, Jr. Foundation Scholarship Committee are ineligible to apply to the Foundation for scholarship award. Spouses of ineligible persons are also ineligible.
